

Pandora's box

One day in the palace Zeus and Athena had a daughter called Pandora. Athena locked up Pandora's box and it was hidden. Pandora never saw her ~~box~~ box again. When Pandora met Jason she told him all about her box, but Medea heard and told Paris.

They decided that they would sneak into the palace, and would find out where the box is hidden. They found out that the box is hidden in the underworld. Then they were idiots because Cassandra can see in the future, and she told Athena and Zeus. Pandora overheard them and she told Jason.

They all set off that night, but Athena and Zeus met with Pandora and Jason! When they heard that all of them were trying to stop Medea and Paris they teamed up.

They were too loud and woke Hades up! Hades shouted "for goodness sake, what are you doing here? It's 3 in the morning!" They all apologised, and told him what they were doing and went off on their adventure.

When they got ~~there~~ there Athena said the password, which was top secret, and only Athena knew. Medusa let them in. Thankfully the box wasn't open. Suddenly Medusa let another person in! It was Medea and Paris! "Oh hi guys what are you doing here?" said Medusa. "we could ask the same thing to you" shouted Athena and Pandora at the same time.

Athena told them, what's in the box. They all got rewarded, even Medea and Paris, with a golden piece.

In the future

Archaeologists are still trying to work out the secret password today to reach the Pandora's box.
